Tribute Wall

“ My greatest memory of my uncle Al is of while they were living on my grandparents farm. I believe it must have been before I was old enough to be in school. He was taking garbage to the Lebanon County dump and I rode alone with him. Part way to the dump, he said we ran out of gas. We slowly went up one hill and as we rode over the crest of the hill, we picked up speed and went down the other side. We would slow down as we went up another hill and speed up as we went down the other side. This went on the rest of the way. I remember laughing every time we went down every hill.
