He was a World War II U.S. Navy Veteran having served on a YDG class mine degausser ship in the Pacific. Conrad enjoyed boating, water skiing, woodworking and projects around the house and the yard. He was an avid college and professional football fan – especially the Florida Gators. After retirement, he and his wife Jo Anne spent many months traveling the country in their 5th wheel trailer. They also volunteered thousands of hours at DeKalb General Hospital in Decatur, GA and Newton Medical Center in Covington, GA. After moving to Lebanon (Alden Place) in 2007, Conrad also volunteered at Wellspan Good Samaritan. Surviving is a daughter, Terry and Jim Williams of Lebanon, four grandchildren and their spouses, and three great grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his son, David W. Knight, a sister Marilyn Knight, and a brother Edward Knight, Jr.
