“ I was blessed to work for Dan in my first full-time position out of college. While he was my first boss, he is so much more. Reflecting back on our time together, he taught me what it means to be honest, thorough, respectful and gentle. In a world where it's often easier to take a less dignified path, Dan was relentless in his quest to help others and put their needs before his own. His clients meant so much to him; he treated them like family. The responsibility was his privilege and honor. He was always educating, encouraging and empowering anyone he met. A true mentor and role model. I am so grateful for the professional opportunities Dan afforded me, but mostly I am grateful for his ability to share knowledge, support and instill confidence in me, so early in my career. He was one of a kind. I pray for peace and comfort to all those who had the pleasure of knowing Dan. We rejoice in knowing Dan is made new and I look forward to the day we meet again.

“ Dan was a fried and councilor to Sally (formerly of Palmyra) for many years, helping her through difficult times. He was our accountant for the last 6 years.But those words do not convey the essence of Dan. He was warm, caring, funny and competent and someone you knew you could trust implicitly. We share the grief of his family and staff. We shall miss him.Jim and Sally

“ Impossible to sum up in just a few words; I'll simply say it's been an honor and privilege to have worked for Dan over these last now 10 years. A man of true integrity, compassion and empathy, and brilliant analytical ability; it's been a pleasure to provide administrative support to Dan. I will miss our shared office; and we will both miss Dan's guidance, advice, and genuine friendship. Rest in peace and renewed health, dear Dan. Until we meet again. Scot & Debbie ?
