He kept a pocket full of pretzels, sipped his coffee slowly, never skipped a chance at ice cream and was ruthless at Michigan Poker. When his home was full, he would sleep on the floor to give guests a soft mattress. Glen made time to play with the people that called him Pap, and gave special treats to the neighbor's dog. His steadfast love and caring for his wife Donna were immeasurable. He faithfully supported his children, grand and great grandchildren in all of their activities, successes and sorrows. He was so very kind and enjoyed meeting new people.
