“ Today was a difficult day. Unable to join together the way we usually would.. we had a small funeral for my Grandfather Harry. My Mother, unable to sleep since he passed, wrote a beautiful speech & read it aloud. I know this photo is grainy, but I love what it represents. I'm so endlessly proud of my mother, her grace & her pure heart. Prior to my grandfathers dementia worsening, she & my Father selflessly insisted that my grandparents move into her house so that they could over see their care over the course of several months. Grandpa would sit in his chair in the living room and glance into the kitchen, watching mom (Sarah) continually work, clean, juggle working full time, running a household, making dinner, & scheduling appointments for everyone & volunteering. Even though his dementia was getting worse and he couldn't always remember her name... he would point at her and say "... that One... that's the One that gets it DONE!" With a big smile on his face, but in a seriously proud tone. You could see how honored he was in his face to have her as his daughter. My mother was always there, present every moment throughout the years, as a solid pillar in his life, & is always there for all of us. Seeing my Mother up there today, with my always present, loving Father Daniel standing up with her for emotional support, representing Grandpa & his honor brought me so much peace. THIS IS FAMILY. This is what Grandpa was all about. I am so broken right now, but also at peace knowing that Grandpa is looking down on us and is honored that this is His Family ❤️🙏

“ Family coming together & Genealogy were two of Grandpas passions. You could always find him lending a hand to anyone in need and helping out to get the job done. Grandpa always had service at heart, and it was evident in everything that he did. It's so wonderful to hear all the special memories that everyone has had with him over the years, words of kindness appreciation and love. His legacy will live on... ❤️🙏

“ Grandpa, you are so very loved & I hope you know how proud I am to be your first grandchild. You lived with me when I was a baby, & could always be the one to settle me down & get me to fall asleep for my naps- a talent you were very proud of! You loved to tell stories about our family history, heritage, and genealogy & were extremely proud. You were famous for your Thanksgiving yams & I promise to learn all of your recipes & keep those traditions going! Your Navy & childhood stories will be cherished & shared with future generations, & I plan to continue your legacy with continued ancestry work. My heart aches but I am so thankful for having such an incredible Grandfather for my entire childhood, all the memories, birthdays, & every holiday in between. A piece of you is imprinted on us forever...Love you so much more than words can express Grandpa ❤️🙏
