“ I will miss Lee's humour and bigger than life personality. Bubbie did nothing small. Go big or go home. I admired her grit and determination. She was an active business woman who nurtured her business as she did her children. She loved her grandchildren. There wasn't anything she would not do for them. She was one tough cookie. She was hard on her daughter Lindy primarily to be the best person she can be. I think she recognized herself in her daughter and wanted her to be a success. It worked.

Bubble embraced me as a part of her family. I would explain to her staff at Elmcroft that I was her daughter from a different Mother. We shared some really special moments together, some around her overly abundant holiday table. Her bright light will continue to shine on us whenever we see a distant star, a rainbow or when we love on our children and pets. Shine on Lee.
