“ Lloyd Beare was a leader who cared about people and projects, an intelligent electronics engineer who took care of people, and a friend who will be sadly missed by everyone who knew him. He ensured all projects were completed on time and with quality, and he gave credit to the people who completed them. There isn't room to give Lloyd Beare the credit he deserves, May our Lord be with his family.

*The Beare family have been the best cousins a person could have grown up with. Lloyd was the oldest and a good leader of the clan, but each had their own strong points. The stories are many and the laughs equally as many. It is a shame age takes so much from us. Lloyd and Cheryl were always so much fun, those times are missed. Funny story, while sitting in the car in parking lot at Kohls, the car door open and in slips this strange man with sunglasses and hat and starts talking to us. We had no idea it was Lloyd until the sunglasses and hat were removed. We were surprised and shocked: then all laughed.
