“ I was thinking about all the fun times with Ralph, when the boys were small.

Transplanting the Impatiens for Spring planting in the greenhouse, his Oyster stew, his fear of snakes which was cause for many pranks. The many trips to Friday Market and the Root Market.

Sunday walks in the woods learning what the plants were called to make Winter gardens. His great talent with his plants. But mostly his kindness and being a good Uncle Ralph. And to this day we still make Ralphie sandwiches with a smile.

You are missed.

“ One of my favorite memories of Uncle Ralph, walking through the greenhouse. Learning about terrariums and the smell of ferns he was growing. Miss you. Justin
