“ Steve & my father Carl were close friends. Close enough; in fact; that my father had let Steve move into our back yard when he'd fallen on hard times... I'd grown up to know Steve (or as my father called him, 'Fess'; as a second father... When I was growing up; to say that my childhood was difficult; seems to be putting it mildly... My father was very difficult to deal with. Around the time that I was in 5th grade; Steve; Moose; Snuffles; and; eventually Trixie moved into his camper; in our back yard. My father and I had butt heads rather frequently; needless to say; most of my time was spent hanging out with Steve and his pups; they'd become very much like my family

“ You could not have known or met a nicer person. He set me on a path in the automotive industry and for that I am forever grateful. His care and compassion for people made him a horrible business man but an incredible human being. Rest in peace Steve, you no longer feel pain.
