Tribute Wall

“ A son becomes a man because of the lessons his father taught him. A son sees his father in himself more and more every day as he ages. Losing a father leaves a void in a son's heart but a son appreciates all the great memories of an everlasting relationship.

I remember the first time I met your father and mother Ron, in the Lancaster store while touring stores together. I distinctly and immediately remember that I recognized him as your Dad because you both exhibited the same warm, caring and friendly personality. Even though I may not be able to be there with you on Saturday, my thoughts, love and prayers are with you and the entire Bomberger family.

*All my best Ron
